SIERRA MADRE, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

VOLUME 37, NO. 51

3rd War Loan
Given Good
Start HereSubscription Of $2,000
Received Before Campaign
Opens To-day

The Third War Loan campaign which opens to-day starts off in Sierra Madre with a $2,000 subscription by M. Penn Phillips, well known Southern California business man of 200 Olivera place who is vice chairman of the Los Angeles County War Bond committee. His check, first to be received by the local committee, was received yesterday and reported at a meeting of the committee last night at which plans for the drive were completed.

Scores of other pledges were turned over to the committee at its meeting causing G. L. Alspach, director of the local campaign, to express the belief that nearly half of Sierra Madre's quota of $165,000 may be raised this week, before a house to house canvass of the city gets well under way.

Mr. Phillips reported to the committee that while the amount to be raised in Los Angeles County seems terrific, local committees throughout the county almost without exception have reported they were confident they would experience no great difficulty in meeting their quotas because citizens have come to understand that proper financing of the war at this critical period will hasten the peace and save many thousands of precious American lives.

Here as elsewhere a special effort will be made to interest workers in defense and other industries who are receiving abnormal wages. The effort will be to show them that money loaned the government now will stand them in good stead if the customary lull comes after peace is restored and there is not only a return to lower wages but a sharp drop in employment. This investment appeal will be strongly urged too, as a means of beating off the dreaded inflation threat that is ever present.

Much interest is being shown in the Third War Loan dinner of the Kiwanis Club at the Masonic Temple next Tuesday evening where the price of admission and dinner will be $1.25 and a War Bond. Tickets for the dinner had sold so freely, it was reported at the Kiwanis weekly meeting Tuesday, that arrangements had been made to provide a few extra seats to care for late applicants. It will be ladies' night at this session of the Kiwanians so that those fortunate enough to have tickets may be accompanied by the women of their families. Francis L. Daugherty, principal of Lincoln High School, Los Angeles, and of the Department of Agriculture of the University of California will be the principal speaker. There will also be an excellent musical program. The public is invited to the dinner.

Comes From New Zealand
Another From Africa

Two Sierra Madre brothers, seriously wounded on widely separated battlefronts of the global war, were back in California this week, one with his parents here and the other in the Hammond Hospital at Modesto. They are Keith P. Anthony, Mate 1c, of the Navy, and Tech. Sgt. Lee Anthony of the Army Air Force, sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Anthony of 93 W. Mira Monte ave.

Keith's arrival was wholly unexpected. When last heard from he was in the Naval hospital in New Zealand where he was taken after his ship, the Astoria, was torpedoed and sunk and he was believed to have been mortally wounded. His meeting with his surprised parents at the home of Keith's wife's parents in Long Beach a few nights ago was dramatic. The parents had been invited to a "special occasion" at the Long Beach home and while they were visiting with the relatives Keith stepped out of an adjoining room to greet them. It was their first intimation that he was out of far away New Zealand.

New Teachers

At SchoolYears Program Arranged
And Resumption Of Classes Monday Awaited

Teachers have been assigned, the school building house-cleaned, new equipment has been installed, many of the rooms redecorated, the new superintendent-principal and the teaching staff have mapped out their work for the year and everything is in ship shape for the resumption of classes at the grammar school next Monday, Henry F. Korsemeier, the new superintendent announced last night. All vacancies on the staff have been filled except the boy's physical director. The staff has been assigned as follows:

Kindergarten, Miss Marie B. Ohasso; first grade, Miss F. Claire Newman and Miss Elizabeth Steinberger; second grade, Mrs. Mabel Coupe; second and third grades, Mrs. Zayda F. Leonard; third and fourth grades, Miss Helen W. Wones; fourth grade, Mrs. Yerda A. Adams; fifth grade, Miss Dorothy Moore and Miss Mary Pfahler; sixth grade, Mrs. Ruth Gardner; sixth and seventh B and girls' physical education, Miss Arax Arkin; seventh grade, Mrs. Mary S. Wheeler; seventh A and eighth B, Miss Florence Lusted; eighth grade, Miss Betty Newton; music, Mrs. Wanda Weiths; art, Miss Sasa Mae Butler; home economics and cafeteria manager, Miss Alice C. Shook; library, Mrs. Marie D. Tetreau; industrial arts, Mark Havenhill; school nurse, Mrs. Hortense Wells; secretary, Mrs. Florence E. Wilhelm; custodians, Harold Williams and Richard E. Pendergast; gardener, Arthur C. Brown.

Parents of children new to the Sierra Madre City School again are urged to register their children before the opening date of school.

Parents are invited to come to the school to discuss problems concerning their children with the teachers or the superintendent. Cooperation between parents and teachers will result in a greater understanding of the child's needs and the teacher will be better able to help the pupil to become a valuable member of his community. It is asked, however, that conferences with teachers be limited to those periods when classes are not in session. Interruptions during class periods put the teacher at a disadvantage and disrupts class routine. However, parents are invited to visit the classes at any time, says Supt. Korsemeier.

Report Ben
Lyon Jr. Dead
In Jap Camp

A letter from the Navy Department, received Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lyon of 760 Canyon Crest drive, announced the death of their son Benjamin Malcolm Lyon, Jr., Navy Radioman 1c, in the Japanese prisoner's camp at Taiwan, where he had been confined since the fall of Corregidor. Pneumonia was given as the cause of death and the letter stated that the information had come through the International Red Cross at Tokyo.

But his parents, though stunned by the news, refused to give up hope, believing their son may have been confused with another fighting man of the same name, since they recently received a card from the boy announcing that he was then in "No. 2 Prisoner's Camp, Tokyo." It was written in his own hand, "I am well and safe in Japan. My health is usual," it said. Taiwan is in Formosa.

Shortly before this card, dated Dec. 22, 1942, arrived here, the Lyons received a letter from the Navy Department saying Ben, taken from Corregidor, had been sent to Taiwan.

In the letter from the Navy Department received by the Lyons this week it is stated that the International Red Cross letter containing news of the lad's death was dated August 16 and did not give the exact date of his demise. But the Navy assumes that it was on August 16 and it is so recorded in the records.

If this latest news is verified young Ben Lyon will be recorded as the first Sierra Madrean to give his life overseas in the present war. He enlisted in the Navy on Feb. 17, 1937, and was assigned to the Houston until he was promoted to the rank of Radioman 1c and transferred to serve with the commanding officer in Manila, and later to Corregidor where he was taken prisoner by the Japs with the tragic capitulation of that fort.

Requiem Service
For Ben Lyon, Jr.
Monday Morning

A requiem service for Ben Malcolm Lyon, Jr., radioman, 1c and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lyon of Canyon Crest drive, reported by the Navy Department as having died in a Japanese prison camp, will be held at the Church of the Ascension at 10 o'clock next Monday morning, Sept. 12. Rev. John S. Neal, Ascension rector, will officiate.

New Class In Home
Nursing Is Being Organized Here

Organization of a new class in home nursing during the latter part of September was announced yesterday by Mrs. J. E. Marr, chairman of the Red Cross home nursing unit. The class will be instructed by Mrs. Augusta Coats, registered nurse who served with the A.E.F. during World War I.

The acute shortage of nurses has prompted President Roosevelt to join with the Army and Navy in calling upon the women of America to take this course so that they will be qualified to care for ordinary civilian requirements, releasing badly needed trained nurses to care for men at the fighting fronts and the wounded who are being brought back from overseas.

Men and women interested in this patriotic endeavor are asked to register as soon as possible at Red Cross headquarters here.

Registration For
PJC and Pasadena
Schools To-morrow

Pasadena schools will be open for registration of new pupils for Junior High and Junior College tomorrow, Friday morning, beginning at 9 a.m. Officially, school begins Monday, Sept. 13, but old students may register next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday.

An assembly for new students at PJC will be held at 8:30 Monday morning. Counselors are on duty daily up until 9 o'clock in the evening so that students working days can call for appointments to make out their programs in either day or night classes. The curriculum should be examined closely for there are many new classes being offered in keeping up with war trends.

Sierra Madre grammar and St. Rita's parochial schools open Monday, Sept. 13. Registration of new pupils, and of kindergarten and first grade pupils will be to-day and Friday.

The promotion of Lyndon H. Stevens, 26 years old, from the rank of second lieutenant to first lieutenant has been announced at the Eighth Air Force Flying Fortress base in England. He is an intelligence officer with "Wittan's Wallpapers," latest bomber group to join the Eighth in the aerial offensive against Germany. The newly appointed 1st Lt. is the husband of Mrs. Beryl J. Stevens of 310 E. Highland avenue, this city. Prior to his service in the Army, he was employed as a statistician. He served as a sergeant in the New York State Guard for three years before entering active duty. He was commissioned a second lieutenant on December 9, 1942.

Expecting that their son, Capt. George Smith of the Army Air Force, would be on his way overseas shortly after being transferred from the Air Corps flying field at Barksdale, La., to the Air Force base at Roswell, N.M., Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith of 11 N. Mt. Trail ave. spent eight days with him at Berryville, Ark., while he was on furlough and in transit between camps. The meeting place was well chosen for it gave all the Smiths a chance to visit their old home there, where Capt. Smith was born and where his parents still own property. The young man rose rapidly in the Air Force, showing great aptitude from the time of his enlistment and has been serving as an instructor for pilots and bombardiers because of marks of excellence he earned while in training.

With every indication that he will soon be a commissioned officer, Staff Sgt. Frank Vane, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Vane of 220 East Sierra Madre Blvd., was transferred from Camp Santa Anita to the Adjutant General's School at Ft. Washington, Md. He left Saturday and was due to enter the school today. Graduates of this school are in line for administrative duties in the countries now being liberated by the Allies and the training is to this end. Sgt. Vane was recently awarded

Castiac FireAttorney Takes Visiting Friend Along As Cook At Camp Kitchen

A dozen Sierra Madre members of the Forest Fire Fighters organization and the U. S. Forest Service answered the call for help when a forest fire raging over more than 700 acres in the Castiac area got out of control late Friday, most of them remaining at the fire camp until Tuesday when the blaze was brought under control.

One of the first to hear the SOS from Castiac was Kenneth Kearney, local attorney, who was entertaining a friend from Berkeley, Phillip L. Devin. A special plea from the fire front was for men capable of cooking for the more than a thousand men at the camp. Knowing something about the culinary art, Kearney volunteered at once and took his friend along, installing him in the pots and pans department. Kearney thought it would be a great experience for him and Devin admits it really was—and an enjoyable one.

Volunteers from here were Fred La Lone, sector boss; Kenneth Kearney, Clarence Schreier and Samuel J. Gorman, cooks; Alexander R. Koch and Selmers E. Peterson, service of supplies line; Harry G. Caskey, Daniel D. Strite and Harold J. Williams, crew leaders, and Phillip Devin.

Men that filled positions here that were left vacant by regular Forest Service men sent to the fire were, Lloyd A. Johnson and Vinton A. Hoegge, patrol duty; William Guardia, fire suppression crew at station, and Frank Hildebrandt, Jr., guard.

The fire burned over the area between Castiac and the Red Rock Canyon area 13 miles to the north. There was no improved property in its path.

John Froehlich Elected
Mayor, Reynolds Councilman
As Schwartz Goes To WarFormer Head Of City Government Enlists In Navy And Is Called Into Service While Vacating.—Special Meeting Of The City Council Quickly Fills Vacancies.

Tom Schwartz has gone off to war and Sierra Madre has a new mayor and a new councilman this morning.

John "Pop" Froehlich, member of the city council for the past eight years, is the new mayor. Thomas A. Reynolds, attorney who lives at 48 W. Alegria ave., a member of the city planning commission and a member of the community Boy Scout executive committee, is the new councilman. He has been a resident of Sierra Madre for almost ten years.

Former Mayor Schwartz enlisted in the Navy last week while he and Mrs. Schwartz were vacationing at the beach. Friday he received word that he had passed the physical examination with a high mark and was ordered to report at once at the San Diego Naval Training station, which he did, without an opportunity to return to Sierra Madre.

Unable to get here, he sent a letter of resignation addressed to his colleagues on the council. It arrived Tuesday and was the first intimation anyone here but Mrs. Schwartz had that he had joined the armed forces.

Immediately on receipt of this letter remaining members of the council held a caucus and made the plans that were carried through at a special meeting of the council last night, resulting in the election of Froehlich and Reynolds. It was necessary to secure consent of Schwartz to the what ordinarily might have been a very difficult task a much lighter one by many hands sharing the load. I am especially grateful to the members of the Control Center who have given so generously of their time and thought in providing this city with adequate civilian defense. I hope that they will be encouraged and helped to strengthen this very necessary work."

Mr. Froehlich at once nominated Mr. Reynolds to fill Mr. Schwartz' seat on the council, an act passed by the last Legislature permitting an elective officer to take a leave of absence upon entering the military service and to reclaim his position if he is able to return to his official duties during the period for which he was elected.

Following the unanimous election of Mr. Reynolds Councilman Hoegge nominated Mr. Froehlich for mayor and with some praise of his service to the city during his tenure as a councilman, Mr. Froehlich was unanimously elected.

Announcing that he was retired and able to give his new duties much of his time, the new mayor thanked his colleagues for the confidence they had shown in him and pledged himself to give the best that is in him in the matter of service.

The new mayor was elected to the city council to fill the unexpired term of Preston M. Schwartz, father of Tom Schwartz, when he resigned upon being elected a director of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank. He has been a resident of California since 1922, coming here from New Jersey. He has been a resident of Sierra Madre since 1928 and lives now at 115 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. He is a retired fountain pen manufacturer and dealer.

Mayor Froehlich's term as a councilman expires next April, along with that of W. J. Schiltz, who preceded Schwartz as mayor. The terms of Bruce McGill, and Vinton Hoegge extend two years beyond that time, they having been elected in April of last year for four year terms. The council as it is constituted after the election in April will elect one of its members as mayor. Mr. Reynolds was elected by the councilmen to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Schwartz who was elected for a four year term. It may be, however, that he will serve only until the people have had an opportunity to fill the position at the April election.

They're Working For Our Fighting Men

When a Boy or Girl Scout with a little red, white and blue box approaches you on the street during the remaining days of this week he or she will be working for men in the trenches, fox holes and jungles on the far away fighting fronts. If you drop a nickel into one of these boxes a soldier, sailor or marine far from canteens and comfort stations will receive a package of cigarettes. The campaign is being carried on through American Legion posts throughout the land in cooperation with cigarette manufacturers and the government, which allows the cigarettes to reach the armed forces overseas without taxes or transportation charges.

The former mayor was out on the parade grounds drilling when the telegram arrived at the training station and it did not get into his hands until late in the afternoon. His telegram of consent arrived here just a few minutes before the time scheduled for the special meeting.

City Clerk Waverly Pratt read the Schwartz letter of resignation when the meeting went into session. It read as follows:

"Following many months of continual application to various services of the armed forces, I have enlisted in the U. S. Navy and following basic training will be sent to radio school where I may best put to service the knowledge that I have acquired over many years of radio experience.

"This action necessitates my immediate resignation as mayor of this city and my request for leave of absence as councilman, as permitted by legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature.

"I will always appreciate the honor you conferred on me when you selected me as mayor and the many courtesies and thoughtful considerations during the entire time that I have served on the council.

The first passenger automobile regularly manufactured for sale in the United States was produced by the Duryea Wagon Company of Springfield, Mass., in 1895. However, a steam-driven prototype was invented by Henry Alonzo House 29 years earlier.

Not the least reason for lowering food prices is the fact that America has taken Victory Gardening seriously. For backyard farmers are not in the market for vegetables when their own crops are harvested. Estimates now available indicate that the victory garden program was no "flash in the pan." Twenty million victory gardens are now yielding harvests, according to the Agriculture Department, and the National Victory Garden Institute estimates that fifty million citizens have shared in the work on them. The season's harvests from such gardens will be about a billion dollars, according to an estimate by Dr. Joseph S. Davis of Stimson University.

Coal production for the first half of 1943 was an estimated 1,729,000 tons less than for the same period in 1942, Solid Fuel Administrator Harold L. Ickes has reported. "The gravity of this loss of production is emphasized by the fact that the Nation will need an estimated 25,000,000 tons of coal more this year than last," he said.

Traffic on rural roads in the West decreased from December through May to less than half of pre-war normal, according to the Public Roads Administration of the FWA. A minor exception is March when eastern traffic was 52 percent of normal. Traffic in the "western" area, rationed since December 1, 1942, has settled down to less than two-thirds of pre-war normal.

THINGS TO COME—An emulsified oil with which to lay the dust on airport runways, incidentally killing weeds. Soap-washtubs, made of high wet-strength paper impregnated with soap which provides suds. A new vegetable, developed by Dutch agriculturalists, which is a cross between a beet and a carrot, containing three or four more times as much Vitamin C as either.

Rules Adopted For Sending Christmas Packages To Men In The Armed Forces In Far Away Lands

The Army, Navy and Post-office departments have made rules for the shipment of Christmas packages to servicemen overseas. Parcel post packages for men in all the services will be received only between September 15 and October 15. After the latter date a package for a fighting man overseas must be accompanied by a letter from the man himself asking that that particular package be sent.

Christmas parcels may not weigh more than five pounds, may not be more than 15 inches long, or 36 inches in combined length and girth. They must be securely wrapped and tied, and the outside cover such that it can be opened easily for censorship. No inflammables, intoxicants, perishables, such as fruit, or articles that might injure another package, will be accepted. Food and clothing are not advised as gifts.

Since the efficiency of the fighting man is greatly influenced by his spirit, mail of all kinds, especially at the holiday season, is a vital factor in his ability to do his duty. Send the boys their gifts, and send them early, being sure to address them properly.

Reasons for early mailing dates are: The vast distances that the parcels must travel to reach our men at war fronts and stations the world over; frequent transfers of thousands of men from one location to another, which means forwarding of the mail and consumes additional time; the necessity for giving preference to reinforcements, arms, munitions, medicine and food in allotment of shipping space, which often means that the shipments of gifts must wait. And it is most urgent that gifts be delivered to the men in TIME FOR CHRISTMAS, to keep their spirit high.

The only way to insure against disappointment for the fighting men is to buy at once and mail early—mail your gifts as soon as possible after the September 15 starting date. The package should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

The parcel must be well and strongly packed, in a container of metal, wood, strong fiber board, or similar material, then wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. The cover should be such that it can be opened readily for censorship. The contents should be packed tightly. Addresses must be written clearly and completely. In addition to the return address of the sender, a parcel for an Army man should show the name, rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, Army post office number, and name of post office through which the parcel is routed.

The address on a parcel for a Navy man should include the name and rank or rating of the addressee, the Naval unit to which he is assigned and the Navy number assigned thereto, or the name of his ship, and the fleet post office through which the parcel is routed.

Local Red Cross To Fill 1152 Kit Bags For Boys In Navy

An assignment has been given the local Red Cross chapter to supply 1152 kit bags to be given to all Navy men leaving United States shores in the next 60 days for active duty.

Up to this time only the Army boys have been given these outfit bags. The following is a standard list of contents for the kits: Small soap box and soap, deck of playing cards, package of cigarettes, tobacco and cigarette papers, shoe polishing cloth, small pencil with cap, package of double-edge razor blades, small book (pocket size) book—detective, humorous, adventure, etc.; small calendar, which may be used as a greeting card from the chapter, club or organization, and a sewing case (housewife).

Home Decoration To Be Taught Adults At Junior College

Because of the demand upon the Pasadena Junior College by the public for instruction in re-finishing and reupholstering furniture, and painting of cars in these days when painters and upholsterers are scarce, a class in painting and decorating begins on Tuesday, September 14, in the "Campus Annex" across the street from the Junior College campus. This class will be open to adults who wish to learn how to refinish home furniture, interior and exterior painting and decorating of all kinds in the home, and a limited amount of upholstery of house furniture, as well as instruction in painting and refinishing automobiles.

Mr. Green, who has had years of trade experience, will be the instructor. The course will emphasize theory and practice in interior and exterior painting, color mixing and application, wood finishing, air brush work, and selection of materials.

The hours can be varied: 8:00 or 9:00 a.m. to 12 noon daily, on Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday. Students who bring their own jobs to work on must pay for materials used. The number to enroll is limited to 25. To sign up for this class, see Mr. Harrison, counselor, in the Guidance Office, 118C, East Campus, any day or in the evenings.

Got His Man

There's always something suggestive in a name—especially in the Army. First Sergeant Walter Swift was looking for a runner at Camp Santa Anita to keep communications open between his orderly room and headquarters. The job called for a fast man. Sergeant Swift looked over the company roster for a likely candidate. His eyes skimmed over the names and came to an abrupt halt. He smiled. Who got the job? Private Mercury.

Young Son Born To The John Copelands

Sierra Madre's population was increased by a matter of six pounds, 11 and a half ounces, early (very early) Sunday morning, with the arrival at Huntington Memorial Hospital, Pasadena, of James Michael Copeland.

The baby is the son of Renee and John O. Copeland, both of whom have made great strides on the road to recovery. James Michael, to all outward appearances, is definitely not a "victory model", having all the standard pre-war materials and accessories.

DANGEROUS WEAPON

In time of peace and friendly interchange among nations, foreigners often have smiled indulgently at the average American's disposition to see the bright side of things. In time of peace Americans can afford to enjoy the Pollyanna title of "the most optimistic people on earth," for good cheer and happy hopefulness are excellent qualities in their peace.

One wonders, however, if the habit of untinking optimism isn't a bit outmoded for war time. The general expectation of early victories and cheap ones is too prevalent to discount. Recent authoritative surveys indicate the American people are yet not thinking in terms of major sacrifice—and better have begun to give high odds on a short war.

That government and military leaders consider the trend a highly dangerous one is apparent. Secretary of the Navy Knox, speaking to San Francisco Bay area leaders on his recent trip to the Pacific Coast, admitted that the Allies now have the initiative in the Japanese war. "But possession of the initiative," he warned, "does not mean that the war is won or that victory is just around the corner."

"There is nothing that would warrant any such optimism! The enemy, both east and west, is still in possession of the bulk of his strength!"

Light-hearted optimism is a splendid character trait, normally. But too much of it in war time—so much that it persuades people that their individual war effort is not needed—is an untinking blockade to victory, a dangerous weapon against our own fighting forces.

LETTERS from Readers

OVERDOING IT!

To the Editor of the Sierra Madre News:

Sierra Madre women whose men and boys are in the service of their country must have been struck by the co-operative and patriotic attitude of the milk-dealers who in defiance of OPA have decided to raise their prices, nobly crying "Lewis got away with it, why can't we?"

It also may have occurred to them that if we, the women who are the chief buyers of milk, refuse to buy any more they can't "get away with it."

Having been oversold by the milk industry and our doctors on the idea that "milk is the perfect food," some of us may hesitate to join such a movement. But let us remember that Russians and Chinese and British are not raised on milk . . . and they seem to be pretty good men after all, and are backed by good women at home. There are substitutes for this rich calcium food; let us find them. But if we allow these men to "get away with it" there will be no substitute we can find for inflation . . . nor for the depression afterwards. And that will hurt our youngsters much more than doing without milk for a while now.

A GABBY LOT

Ordnance soldiers stationed here at Camp Santa Anita are as gabby as filibustering congressmen. In one month's time, turfbirds plunked down their dough for 15,435 local calls, and 3,376 long distance calls, a survey revealed, according to "Man O' War," the camp newspaper.

The.... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

IT ALL CAME back to us. Gray dawns when old pre-war daytime Paris would be just beginning to stir; and there'd be a two-mile walk before us that never lost its fascination—from the Herald office, then in the Rue du Louvre, to our home over there beyond the Seine on the lower fringe of the Latin Quarter; through streets and past bridges, buildings, people, to remind you of everything you'd ever read or dreamed of—in Hugo, Balzac, Dumas, Zola. Dawns symbolic, it now appears, of the Paris of today—in another chill gray dawn—but of a new era. Recalling those ghosts abroad in the early hours of that old Paris:—The swarming rag-pickers—werewolves held over from the days of the Bastille and the Guillotine. . . . We'd just been reading a little book by Saladin Reps called "Nature's Brotherhood," and in it the parable of a rag-picker's horse: The Horse that was a Buddhist.

NOT THAT horses were ever common among Paris rag-pickers even then, their Golden Age. Hauling the cart was more likely to be a family affair—mostly by the old woman and the kids, with a dog or two on the underside to help; dad out in front, shaggy, dirty, and lean, always in a hurry. It was always hurry, to keep ahead of those thunderous big tumbrels the city sent out to collect what the rag-pickers left. Now, no more rags in those Paris refuse-cans—no crusts of bread, no more bones, or even scraps of paper. And think of the competition—hungry Paris today become a whole city of scavengers! More werewolves, more ghosts, a new Terror in the making. If we were a German, it seems to us, we'd try to get out of Paris before the New Day breaks.

BUT WHAT the rag-picker's horse gave us to think about most was how its thought ran close to that of the great French poet, Lamartine—the very soul of Lamartine, expressed in all he ever said and did and wrote. As to the last, especially, it always seemed to us, that which he wrote in his "History of the Girondins," where he describes the passing of Louis XVI—still called by French Royalists their martyred king because the Revolutionists cut off his head. But listen first to the Buddhist horse when martyred by the beatings of its master: "Master, you are my master indeed, as you impart to me this precious lesson. These blows are upon my body only. In my heart there is music. You are giving me my freedom." So reminding of Lamartine's account of how King Louis thought and felt as death drew near—that king and horse might almost have changed places.

FOR NOW hear Lamartine—unless we translate him too badly—as Louis XVI sits in his prison and awaits his last hour: "By force of calamity, of reflection, and an inner yielding to the will of God, he had attained to that sublime indifference where man, impartial between fear and hope, has preference for nothing but the decision from on high; our soul's rise to the supernatural, where mankind, now raised beyond its own longing, dares whatsoever insult of fortune, suffers no pain save that of its body, desires nothing more than the command from Heaven." To this passage, Lamartine added a postscript. "Philosophy," he said, "brought these lessons by negation to the wise men of old; Christianity made resignation a dogma, and exemplified it for the new-born world by a Cross."

LAMARTINE was old and broken when he wrote this, fallen into obscurity and very poor. Fame, money, and worship had poured in upon him with the publication of his first book of poems while he was still young. And while he still grew in stature as a poet, new eminence was flooded in upon him as a statesman. There for a time, during a period of troubled politics and revolution, he became the most powerful man in France. After which try to explain it!—the swift decline. For ourselves, in trying to solve the riddle, we've always thought how, with Lamartine as with many another man who rose to worldly heights and then had fallen—these had really not fallen at all. They too might have said: "Get thee hence Satan. . . ."

Wartime Transcontinental Trips By Civilians Are Far From Joy Rides, Sierra Madre Girl Learns

A railroad trip from coast to coast by a civilian may no longer be classed as a joy ride, according to Miss Moreland Kortkamp who arrived from New York last week to visit her father, Percy Kortkamp, and family of 32 Park avenue. No longer may civilians depend upon the luxury of the super limited trains with their compartments, drawing rooms and deep, soft berths.

Miss Kortkamp considered herself fortunate to get a seat, with a straight back, though her application for transportation had been filed for weeks before she began her trip. . . . She felt she had a special dispensation when she enjoyed the luxury of a reclining chair for a short distance west of Chicago. Accommodations on the solid trains, sans luxuries, are reserved for fighting men preparing for or engaged in the grim business of war.

And the eats are reserved for these defenders of the nation, too. They get first call in the dining cars. . . . Civilians on the trains Miss Kortkamp traveled on were limited to two meals a day—breakfast and dinner. Those not fortunate enough to make the diners before the food supply was exhausted at mealtime did the best they could in brief stops made by the trains. Railroad personnel did their level best to make travelers comfortable and see that they were fed, but orders are to give the fighting men and materials the right of way, and they get it. Miss Kortkamp found this out when troop laden coaches were attached to her train at Chicago. She broke up her long journey by stopping a day in Chicago and a weekend at Colorado Springs, arriving in Sierra Madre last Wednesday. She has been spending the summer at Lake Minnewaska, N. Y., where she was social director of entertainment activities, giving concerts and playing with a string trio.

Miss Kortkamp will be in Sierra Madre for about a month, visiting her family and friends, and will probably give a concert here sometime during the first week in October. Later in the fall she will return to New York to enter the Juilliard Graduate School of Music, where she has been offered another scholarship. This will be her fifth year as a scholarship student at the world famous music institution.

FIRE FLAMES By One of the Boys

Nearly 200 Firemen from over the San Gabriel Valley were the guests of Sierra Madre last Thursday evening. Charlie Hildebrandt kept the gathering spellbound with his resume of bills passed and lost during the last Session of the Legislature. Thru the kindness of Carl Hansen we had the rear of his place of business to entertain the visitors. And when our good friend Nina Norris agreed to come with two of her daughters to play for us, we knew the crowd would be delighted. It is still a puzzle as to whether some of the men will get to the State firemen's convention. It will be a sad disappointment to some who have always held back their vacations for this event if they do not get there. "Slim" Steinberger has arranged to attend.

The town should not be without a barber shop quartette when such singing is being urged, because in Louie Sparks and Art Johnson, we already have half of it, as they showed during the entertaining of the visiting firemen.

What They Say ---

Rev. Gilbert Swenson, S. F.—"How to live is the greatest question that confronts man. He seeks continually to improve his life—and his fatal mistake is that he seeks only in the realm of material things."

Mrs. Harrison S. Elliott, Nat. Gen. Secy. Y.W.C.A., speaking in L. A.—"We never used to want our girls to grow up. Now we are literally pushing them out into the world unprepared for any problems that a double banana split won't solve."

Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES

Proclamation

RECOGNIZING THE FACT that in carrying the war into enemy territory, we shall need greater amounts of money than any nation has ever asked from its citizens in all history, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do officially proclaim that on Thursday, the ninth of September, 1943, the Third War Loan shall be launched.

As Commander-in-Chief, I hereby invoke every citizen to give all possible aid and support to this Third War Loan drive, not only so that our financial goal may be reached, but to encourage and inspire those of our husbands and fathers and sons who are under fire on a dozen fronts all over the world. It is my earnest hope that every American will realize that in buying War Bonds in this Third War Loan he has an opportunity to express voluntarily and under the guidance of his conscience, the extent to which he will "back the attack."

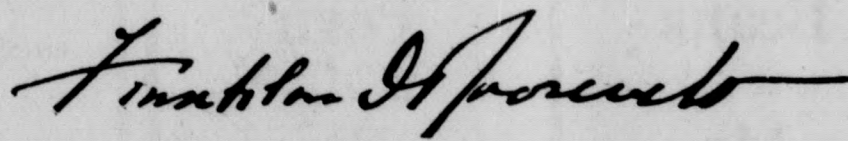

The American people supported well the first and second War Loan drives and in fact did even more than was asked of them. Our need for money now is greater than ever, and will continue to grow until the very day that Victory is won; so we must ask far more sacrifice, far more cooperation than ever before.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington, this twenty-sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-three, and of the Independence of the [SEAL] United States of America the one hundred and sixty-eighth.

By the President:

CORDELL HULL
Secretary of State.

Join the Fats Salvage Campaign Save Fats for Victory

Here's one campaign of this war you can fight—right in your own kitchen! The only weapons you need are left-over fats and a tin can.

This is the way you do it: Save all those drippings and greases you've been accustomed to throwing away—they are the source of glycerin.

Just strain your waste fats into clean tin cans. Keep in a cool place until you have a pound, then bring them to our meat department, and we'll send them on their way to munitions centers.
